Looking for distributors - Gourmet shops, Delicatesse

Artisan charcuterie products are increasingly gaining recognition for their great flavors and healthy quality of meat. Our gourmet-smoked products are hand made by the head salami master. These traditional Hungarian manufacturing and handcraft techniques have been passed down through from father to son as far back as the 1800's. Our highly skilled team take strong care to provide Europe with the healthiest quality of meat which truly create a huge difference in the dining experience.

We are highly motivated to meet new partners through Europe who have mutual interests. Our company's most important viewpoint is to be up to premium standards. This includes the best quality of the product followed by an exquisite packaging to be well-presented with a quality of the highest standard.
